American Heritage Girls Takes Parenting Tips to the Radio

Non-profit to launch short radio features to encourage Raising Godly Girls

CINCINNATI (Sept. 24, 2019) – American Heritage Girls, Inc. (AHG) is launching its new one-minute daily radio feature: Raising Godly Girls (RGG) this month. RGG is the ministry's multimedia Christian parenting resource platform. It's designed to offer advice to parents through a biblical lens from AHG's savvy CEO and mother of four, Patti Garibay. The one-minute daily radio feature will make its Amb-OS debut for radio stations on Sept. 30, 2019.

The RGG platform includes inspiring blog posts in addition to the radio features. Every episode helps parents navigate crucial issues facing today's girls. Relevant girl-centric topics range from body-image to bullying. Listeners will hear the voice and wisdom of AHG's Founder & Executive Director, Patti Garibay.

“For over two-dozen years, AHG has been countering the culture with its Christ-centered program and we have learned a lot along the way,” said Garibay.

Christian radio stations nation-wide, can incorporate RGG into their daily programming. The feature is being offered as a public service to Christian radio listeners. Interested radio stations can visit RaisingGodlyGirlsRadio.com for more information. RGG features are available on Amb-OS Sept. 30, 2019.
